Service is the heartbeat of PCC.

And it can take countless forms: leading a Bible study for neighborhood kids, encouraging the elderly on a Friday evening, or cleaning up around Pensacola. Every semester, hundreds of students come together to use their talents and time to reach out to the local area as they develop service values that can last a lifetime.

IMAGINE YOUR POSSIBILITIES

I encourage you to take a step of faith and start your journey here at PCC. I promise you a community of peers and faculty that care about your well-being. Being in an environment of so many people that genuinely love God only spurs me on when I may be discouraged.

The faculty has been so much help thus far. They are always available to help answer or discuss any questions I have. But what I appreciate about the classes at PCC is that all academic knowledge has some link back to God. Everything I study has an element of Christ in it and reinforces my foundation on God.

My closest friends are the ones I made here at college, and I will miss being with a community of believers my age who are passionate about Christ and the gospel. I will never have that unique opportunity again.

College can be intimidating, but with the strength of the Lord, everything will work out, even if it's not in the way that you expected. My advice is to learn to depend on the Lord. During times of stress, cast your cares upon the Lord, and don't be afraid to ask your friends for help. Build close friendships with other believers who are strong in their faith, and make sure that you are also growing in the Lord as well.

ALUMNI ACROSS GENERATIONS

David (Youth Ministries '93) and Daye (Speech Education '92) Goforth are proud of their daughters (and son-in-law) who have graduated and their youngest as she finishes her degree.

“

We are PCC alumni and have many stories of how the Lord worked in our lives during our time there. As we prayed for our daughters' education, we asked the Lord to guide and direct their college experience as well. He answered that prayer, as PCC has exceeded our expectations. The support from the staff and faculty has been outstanding. Four of our five daughters have graduated, receiving an excellent education and experiencing significant spiritual growth. Remarkably, they all graduated debt-free, and some even received a final payout from their work assistance jobs after graduation.

David & Daye Goforth
Grace Baptist Church

Looking back, I now appreciate PCC's demand for excellence. While at times the writing classes were very rigorous, it taught me how to write quickly and under pressure. Today, I am able to write communications well under high-stress situations. All of my English writing professors trained me to have an eye for detail. I learned how to write succinctly and how to think logically through a composition or a research paper. All of these components are important for a role in communications because the consumer's time is valuable, and humans tend to have shorter and shorter attention spans. At Navy Federal, I've been able to turn communications around quickly because of how I was trained at PCC.
